OFFICIAL PAPER OF LEE COUNTY BY ACT OF SUPERVISORS

Dixon Daily Telegraph Thirtieth Year No. 194

ROCKFORD BOY TO PITCH FOR STARS

BYRD, WHO STRUCK OUT SEVEN
MEN IN THREE INNINGS, ON THE MOUND.

Tomorrow afternoon at Athletic park Dixon fans will have the opportunity of witnessing by far the best team that has visited Dixon this year, for the Kirkland organization which comes for a game with the Dixon stars is rated one of the very strongest semi-pro teams in northern Illinois. In order to better combat their stronger rivals the Stars will employ the services of Byrd, the crack Rockford port wheeler, and his presence in the lineup is going to help some.

Byrd is the boy who pitched here with the Rockford Maroons on Decoration day. He pitched the last three innings against the Stars and struck out seven men in that time, allowing but one scratch hit. Martin Gannon Jr. will umpire the game and a special policeman will be on duty to maintain order.

Browns to Sterling.

Both Dixon teams will be working tomorrow as the new Browns will go to Sterling where Gen. Valle will lead his cohorts against the West Ends. Lightner will pitch for Sterling while Huber will be on the slab for Dixon, therefore the game will probably develop into a pitchers' battle.

FREAK TOURISTS IN CITY TODAY

LADS HAVE PUSH CART—WALK
UPHILL AND COAST DOWN —TO FRISCO.

A couple of new freak tourists hit town today after having been all week coming from DeKalb. They give their names as John A. F. DeLion and Simon T. Schmidt and have a new stunt in the line of rigs.

They have a push cart rigged up with the general outlines of an auto and their general plan is to walk up hill and coast down. They claim to have left Philadelphia 59 days ago and expect to reach Frisco about Nov. 1. The conveyance weighs 525 pounds but runs easy. It was decorated with pennants of various kinds. The boys eke out a precarious living selling picture cards.

This kind of outfits are getting so numerous they hardly attract notice. The general opinion is that if the freak tourists puts as much energy and brain power to some work they would be much better off. In other words we are getting rather blasé on this touring stuff.

FEET POISONED BY

COLORED SOCKS
Dockford Aug 14—Infection caused by wearing colored hosiery has been experienced by several Rockford men. Charles H. Hemming of 625 North Church street was laid up three weeks. A blister formed on his left foot and it was followed with a form of eczema. Joseph A. DuPlain, 416 North Court street, has suffered a great deal from poisoning of one of his feet. H. T. McCulloch of the Emerson Brantingham Co. was also laid up for ten days suffering from a similar trouble.

FRANK C. VAUGHAN

FOR COUNTY CLERK
Amboy News: County Treasurer Frank C. Vaughan is passing around the word that he expects to stay in the political game and will be a candidate for county clerk to succeed W. C. Thompson at the fall term next year. Mr. Vaughan tells us that Mr. Thompson does not intend to be a candidate again for the office.

ACCEPTS POSITION.

Margaret Plein has accepted a position in the office of the Artificial Ice company.

LICENSED TO WED

A marriage license was issued today to Wm. K. Farley and Miss Sarah E. Sturges, both of Fulton, White side county.

BULLETIN

MRS. PANKHURST DESERTS.
London, Aug. 16—Special to Telegraph—Mrs. Pankhurst, the famous suffragette leader of England, has deserted her followers and fled to Paris to join her daughter, Christobel.

GOVERNORS CLASH.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 16—Special to Telegraph—The warring governors and their partisans are drawing nearer to an actual physical encounter and trouble is looked for at any moment.

Lieutenant Governor Glynn's refusal of Governor Sulzer's overtures for a settlement of the controversy in court has made the feeling more bitter.

LEE MATHIAS BUYS THE SODA GRILL

GUY G. MILLER SELLS ICE CREAM
PARLOR—CHANGES HANDS
TONIGHT.

The Soda Grill, the popular ice cream parlors, has changed hands, and Guy G. Miller, who for some months has been running the establishment in a very creditable and up-to-date style, has sold out to Lee Mathias, who has heretofore been employed in Downing's grocery store.

Mr. Mathias will take possession at 10:30 this evening. Mr. Miller does not state what his plans for the future are.

GUIDE POSTS PROVIDED FOR BY TICE ROAD LAW

NEW LAW ALSO PROVIDES FOR WATERING TROUGHS AND FOR CUTTING WEEDS

A section of the Tice road act heretofore overlooked provides that the highway commissioners are empowered to erect guide-post along the highways where necessary, also to provide watering troughs for the use of horses at convenient points.

The guide-post section, as applied to Lee county, will work out admirably at several points.

There are numerous places where guide-posts can be used to advantage.

The part of the road act affecting the above reads:

"To cause to be erected and kept in repair at the forks or crossing place of the most important public roads, post and guide-boards, with plain inscription thereon, in letters and figures, giving directions and distances to the most noted places to which such roads may lead, to prevent mistakes, burdocks, cockle-burs, mustard, yellowdock, Indian mallow and gymson weed from seeding, and to extirpate the same so far as practicable, and to prevent all rank growth of vegetation in the public highway, by causing same to be cut and destroyed prior to the seeding of same, and at the farthest prior to Sept. 1st, in each and every year, and the said commissioners may, at their discretion, adopt any suitable and convenient mode of supplying water in troughs conveniently situated on the public highway for public use."

THESE OUGHT TO BE

A LOVING COUPLE

Elgin News: The groom was Sweet and the bride Darling and the Sweet-Darling couple were said to have been the most loving pair, in name at least, to have been granted a license at the county court house in Geneva.

The groom was Robert Sweet of Plano and he secured a license this morning to marry Miss Dora Darling of Aurora. They were married a short time afterward by a Geneva minister.

NO FALL FAIR

The stockholders of the Mendota Fair and Agricultural Society have decided that the time was too short to hold a fall fair this year. It takes a great deal of work and there are always delays which was not expected.

OFFICERS FOLLOW TRAIL OF BLOOD

L. F. DUTON FELL AND CAUSED
WOUND, THEN WANDERED AWAY.

The extraordinary amount of blood lost by L. F. Duton, a roomer at the Bishop hotel, following a fall on the porch at the hotel late last night, occasioned worry on the part of Landlord Bishop when this morning Duton left the hotel and wandered aimlessly away.

Accordingly he notified the police and the fellow was trailed over the city for over two hours before he was found and taken to a physician's office, where the hemorrhage was stopped.

Duton, who had been drinking heavily, went to the hotel late last evening and while sitting on the porch, suddenly fell forward on his face.

Lost Much Blood.

This morning when he came down to the hotel office he was still bleeding profusely from the nose, and Mr. Bishop advised him to see a doctor at once. Duton, after receiving the advice, left the hotel by the rear door. Mr. Bishop then went to the man's room and discovered that he had bled a great deal during the night, as pools of blood were on the floor, while the bed clothing was saturated in many places.

Accordingly he notified the police and a search which lasted for over two hours was instituted. It was feared that in his dazed condition Duton might have crawled into some hiding place and his condition became serious. He was finally located and taken to a physician's office where his nostrils were packed and other steps taken to stop the flow of blood.

WOULD GO AFTER DODGERS OF TAXES

SECRETARY WOODS WANTS AN EQUITABLE ASSESSMENT OF
OF PROPERTY.

Secretary of State Harry Woods believes that if the local assessors would get after tax dodgers that enough property will be turned in to enable the state taxing board, consisting of the governor, secretary of state, auditor of public accounts and state treasurer, to scale down the rate of taxation considerably below what it will be if the present system of letting tax payers turn in the value of their property at far less than what it is worth, is followed. In a letter to one of the creditors of the state, Secretary Woods says:

Secretary Wood's Views

"If the state taxing board sees fit to instruct the local assessors, through the proper authority, that the law requires the full value of the taxable property be turned in to the several counties so that a just tax rate can be levied, no doubt the rate can be lowered. And the injustice of the legacy of the Densen tax levy for political purposes, will serve as an example to promote a more democratic system of taxation."

"As nothing is more greatly appreciated by our people than a low tax levy, provided a sufficient amount is raised to meet the growing needs of our state, without embarrassing our officials and working a hardship on our creditors, so nothing could be more beneficial than to continue the rate reduction, provided the increase in the value of the property is listed for taxation."

TEACH SEX HYGIENE IN

JACKSONVILLE SCHOOL
Jacksonville, Ill., Aug. 13—Sex hygiene is to be made a part of the curriculum of the Jacksonville high school at the opening of the school year. Lectures are to be given to the students of both sexes in separate classes—once a week by local physicians. In addition to this regular classes in hygiene are to be given the girls.

Mrs. Lee Hutton of Sterling visited Dixon friends today.

AUTO KNOCKS COW 30 FEET; KILLS IT

MAN GIVING NAME OF PETERSON
KILLED VALUABLE ANIMAL
OWNED BY T. ROSBROOK

A valuable cow belonging to Tryon Rosbrook, commissioner of highways, was killed last evening by an automobile driven by a man who gave his name as Peterson. The accident happened at the corner near the Rosbrook farm east of town, while Mr. Rosbrook was driving his cattle home. The heavy machine crashed into the animal, throwing it nearly 30 feet and killing it instantly. The driver of the auto stopped just long enough to shout that his name was Peterson, and hurried on.

Mr. Rosbrook, however, secured the number of his car, which he has turned over to the authorities and as soon as the owner of the machine is ascertained he will be asked to pay for the animal.

FIND BOY WITH A BULLET IN HIS HEAD

CASE OF A BELVIDERE YOUTH IS EITHER MURDER OR SUICIDE.

Belvidere—The body of sixteen year old Edgar Winchester was found on the bank of the Kishwaukee river at East Kingston just before noon Thursday with a bullet hole in the temple. A twenty-two calibre revolver lay near the boy's hand, and an empty cartridge in the revolver showed whence the bullet came.

The boy's death is shrouded in mystery. He left his home yesterday and was gone during a good share of the day. When he did not return at night his parents became anxious and a search was started for him. The hunt was fruitless until between eleven and twelve o'clock this forenoon, when the boy's body was found on the river bank not far from his home.

The corner has been summoned and was to arrive this afternoon to conduct an inquiry.

If it is a case of suicide there is no known reason for it. Nothing in the vicinity indicates murder. The location of the wound would not lead one to think that it was an accident.

The parents of the boy are Mr. and Mrs. George Winchester, and they are nearly prostrated over the tragedy.

Many people joined in the search found by John F. Howe. It is known whether the boy owned a revolver.

SETS SENSIBLE EXAMPLE.

Officer Whetstone today demonstrated that a policeman can do his work just as well in comfortable uniform as in the heavy affairs they have been wearing all year for when old Sol commenced to turn on the heat this morning Ed pulled off his coat and beat it for the station where he left it. As a result he has been much more comfortable during the day than on previous hot days this summer.

CANOE TRIP FROM FREEPORT

Rev. W. F. Bostick, pastor of the Baptist church of Freeport, and Oscar Hill enjoyed a canoe trip to Dixon, arriving last evening. The trip was made down the Pecatonica to Rock river, thence to Dixon. They returned home this morning, sending the canoe by express.

RETURNS HOME.

Rev. P. W. Newcomer of Fairbury returned home Friday after a visit with his brother, E. S. Newcomer, who is critically ill at the Katherine Shaw Bethel hospital.

BRING HOUSEHOLD GOODS HERE

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Plummer will go to Blessing, Texas, next week to pack their household goods for shipment to Dixon. Upon their return they will occupy the Barge residence in North Dixon.

DEKALB FIREBUG CONFESSES ALL

POLICE OF THAT CITY CAPTURE FELLOW WHO STARTED
NIGHT FIRES.

DeKalb, Aug. 16—Chas. Nichols, the confessed firebug, has finally owned up to setting all the recent mysterious fires in DeKalb except the one the other evening in the old ice plant. He stoutly denies all knowledge of this blaze.

According to the story he has set eight fires since last spring. He started by setting fire to a big straw stack on the Jones farm, near the place he was working late in May and has since then been busy at frequent intervals.

The other seven fires have been in DeKalb. The list of them clears up a lot of mysterious blazes and is as follows:

June 8, barn at the Plank home, South First street.

June 22, barn at the Silverman place. This is where a horse burned to death.

July 13, barn at the Brown place, Fifth street.

July 13, Taylor barn on Franklin street.

July 13, Plank house South First street.

August 11, Hubbard shed on First street.

August 11, Heiser barn on Morgaridge place, Ellwood avenue.

Miss Flikkema Still Improves.

Whiteside Sentinel: Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Flikkema of this city are making regular trips to Dixon to see their daughter, Anna, who is in the hospital at that place convalescing from a serious attack of appendicitis. Although for a time her condition was considered quite critical she is now steadily improving. It will require some little time yet, however, before she will be able to be removed from the hospital.

NEW SCHEME TO

SWINDLE THE FARMERS

Bureau County Republican: A new kind of game has been pulled off on some of the farmers in this vicinity, which can scarcely be called swindling, although it verges closely on the border. A horse buyer has been going the rounds, buying up animals, shipping them away and giving his checks in payment on an out of town bank.

In a few days the seller receives word that payment on the checks has been stopped that the horse has some latent defects not noticed at the time of purchase and the value of the animal is thereby $50 less, which the seller may accept or have his horse back.

Of course the animal's return means a heavy freight bill for its transportation and the filmdam has been successfully worked on several farmers here who dislike to confess that they have been "stung"

JUDGE FARRAND WILL

SPEAK AT MT. MORRIS

Judge R. S. Farrand of this city will be the speaker of the day at the Ogle County Old Settlers' picnic, which will be held at Mt. Morris on next Thursday. The Mt. Morris Index says of the judge:

THE WEATHER

TEARS LIGAMENTS OF

FOOT IN BAD FALL

James Bradley of Sterling formerly of Dixon slipped while descending the stairway at his home Wednesday, tearing the ligaments of his foot badly. A physician was called and dressed the injury which will probably confine Mr. Bradley in the house for several days.

Charles Plein, who has been spending the week in Detroit, is expected home this evening.

NICHOLAS SELBY HAS PASSED AWAY

AGED MAN DIED THIS MORNING
—FUNERAL FROM HOME TOMORROW MORNING.

Nicholas Selby, an aged resident of this city, passed away this morning at the family residence on the corner of Dixon avenue and East Third street. Mr. Selby's death was caused by the general breaking down of old age. He would have been 90 years old his next birthday, October 20th, and had been a resident of Dixon for 14 years.

The funeral will be held at 9:45 Sunday morning from the late home, in charge of Rev. Heisey. The body will be taken to the Illinois Central depot and from there to Odin, Ill., on the 11:18 train south. Burial will take place at Odin. Obituary to appear later.

Mr. Selby was a highly respected and greatly beloved old gentleman, and his death brings sorrow to his loved ones and to his many friends.

PLAN ILLUMINATION OF WATSON ISLAND

ARC LIGHT MAY BE PLACED AT LOWER END OF ISLAND
NEAR DAM.

A plan is on foot for lighting the river just above the dam, the consummation of which will mean a great deal to boaters and will also do much to enhance the beauty of the stream. It is proposed to erect a tall pole at the west end of the island and install thereon one or two powerful arc lights, the I. N. U. having made a most generous offer to those who approached them on the subject.

Light at this point would assist boaters greatly in landing at either dock, would illuminate the entire river at that place and would attract a great deal of attention from the bridge.

RESIGNS POSITION

John A. Hoenich, musical director and pianist, will close his engagement at the Family Theatre Aug. 17, being under contract with Klaw & Erlanger to rehearse Broadway musical productions to be played in New York. Mr. Hoenich expresses his delight in regard to the theatre going public in Dixon and said he never noticed while leader in theatres during the last fifteen years any audiences like Dixon's, to take so much interest in good and especially standard music.

EIGHT CATTLE WERE #### KILLED BY A TRAIN

Fresh beef went up and down rapidly in Hahnman township Monday morning due to a Northwestern freight train which plowed its way through a herd of cattle belonging to James Leahy at the Conroy crossing east of Tampico on the Peoria branch of the C. & N. W. Eight of the cattle were killed, making nearly a $500 loss. Albert Dixon also lost one at the same time. The animals had broken out of the pasture and got onto the tracks.

FANNY SHIRLEY WON FOURTH

Fanny Shirley, Tom Gaffney's mare, won fourth money in the 2:15 pace at the grand circuit races at Detroit yesterday, finishing fourth, fifth and third respectively in three heats. All heats in the race, in which ten animals started, were won in 2:07 1/4.

STARTS DIVORCE SUIT.

Christina Gonnerman of Ashton has instituted in the Lee county circuit court, through her attorney, Harry Edwards, suit for divorce from her husband, Charles B. Gonnerman, whom she charges with cruelty and abandonment. They were married in Dixon March 1, 1900.

Edward Llewellyn of Sterling was in Dixon today.

TO ATTEND SERVICES.

Rev. Heisey has invited the Royal Neighbors to attend either service of St. James church on Sunday.

AMPHITHEATER IS BEING ENLARGED

SEATING CAPACITY IN THE BIG
GRAND STAND AT AMBOY
TO BE DOUBLED.

BIG YEAR IS ANTICIPATED

Free Attractions—Excellent Exhibitions in Live Stock and Fine Race Program.

Persons wishing to secure a copy of the Lee County Fair premium list and program may do so by calling at Sterlings' Drug Store in Dixon, Secretary Leech of Amboy has made arrangements with the Dixon firm and the books are on hand for free distribution.

Enlarge Amphitheatre.

Workmen are busy at the fair grounds in Amboy building a large addition to the amphitheatre, from which the races are viewed, and when they are through the management will have twice the seating capacity to offer the public it now has. The improvement will be very acceptable and has been needed for some time.

Good Exhibits.

Some very excellent exhibits are being entered for the fair, which takes place this year from the 16th to the 19th of September. G. N. Larabee will have a notable entry of his famous Red Polls, The Lee County Fair is the only county fair that he uses to exhibit confining his efforts mainly to state fairs. There will be some fine entries in cattle and horses.

Free attractions such as the Three Tyrons, will add to the fun at the fair. The race program will undoubtedly be one of the finest in recent years. Indications are that the Lee County Fair will enjoy one of the biggest years in its history for the coming session.

MAY HOLD CONVENTION HERE NEXT YEAR

ALFALFA GROWERS HAVE BEEN INVITED TO MEET IN THIS CITY.

Dixon may next year entertain the members of the Illinois Alfalfa Growers' association, the annual meeting of which will be held at Springfield next week. It is the custom of this association, of which there are over 500 members, to meet yearly in conjunction with a chautauqua, and accordingly the young men's business association, through Secretary L. A. Pitcher, has extended an invitation to the association to meet here next year with the Rock River Assembly.

The invitation from the Dixon men was extended through Hon. A. N. Abbott, representative from this district, who was in Dixon this morning in conference with Mr. Pitcher. Mr. Abbott promised to use all his influence toward having the invitation accepted by the association, and as he is one of the influential men of the organization there are good grounds for the supposition that the next meeting of the association will be held in this city. The question, however, will not be settled until the middle of next week.

ANOTHER LEWIS

FORGERY IS FOUND

Word has been received from Emory I. Neff, editor of the Rochelle Register, that W. T. Lewis, who was recently bound over by the Whiteside county grand jury for forgery and held in the Dixon jail, had passed a check on the editor. Lewis sold Mr. Neff a small bill of goods, after which he presented a check for $10 made out in favor of John Ford and signed by Wm. Churchill, secretary, with the signature of John Ford on the back. He asked Mr. Neff to identify him at the bank. This Mr. Neff did endorsing the check, which came back, the bank collecting from the Rochelle editor.

"I was attacked with a breaking out on the inside of my arms. It was a small rash or pimples and it itched and burned, especially at night, so that before I knew it I had made myself sore. I had to wear the finest kind of cotton underwear, no woolen at all, because the least thing irritated it and made it much worse. The rash itched and smarted until at times I got no sleep at all."

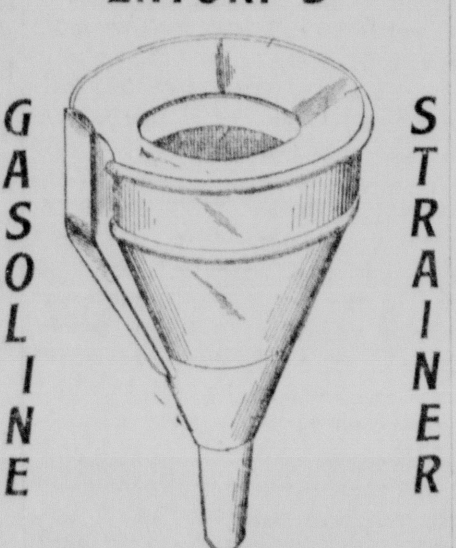

"I had this trouble and took treatments for about one year, but they only gave me relief while taking them. Then I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I got relief right away. I made a good strong lather of Cuticura Soap and washed myself every night and morning, drying myself with a good soft towel, and then applied the Cuticura Ointment. In three months I was a well man again." (Signed) H. W. Foley, Nov. 5, 1912.

AVERS M'DERMOTT GOT $7,500 'BRIBE'

McMichael Says Chicagoan Confessed Rakeoff—From Capital Loan Sharks.

CASH GREED OF EX-EMPLOYER

Tells House Lobby Committee He is Certain Representative Took Money From Mulhall—Admits Working for the N. A. M.

Washington, Aug. 16.—In a dramatic statement I. H. McMichael, dismissed chief page of the house of representatives, last night presented to the house lobby investigation committee a charge of corruption against Representative James E. McDermott of Chicago, for years his sponsor. With intense earnestness McMichael, in picturesque language, corroborated the allegations of M. M. Mulhall against McDermott and made additional charges, at times shocking the committee and spectators with outbursts of profanity and slang. McMichael said that Chicago members of the National Association of Manufacturers raised $1,250 as a campaign fund for McDermott, told of numerous small transactions between Martin M. Mulhall and the stockyards congressman. He swore that McDermott told him that he received $7,500 for his efforts to have the loan shark bill in the District of Columbia amended so that it would not injure pawnbrokers, and told of numerous conferences between the congressman and the lobbyist.

Tells of "Shark" Bill.

McMichael then told of a trip taken by him and McDermott to New York, where they met George D. Hornung, a Washington pawnbroker, and John McDermott, a New York brewer. He said that McDermott registered in New York as "McDougal" and informed McMichael that he did not want anyone to know he was there.

The four mentioned held a conference about the loan shark bill in John McDermott's office and Representative McDermott agreed with Hornung that the pawnbrokers should not be put under the same restrictions as the so-called "ten per centers," the witness said. Later McMichael learned that $10,000 had been raised by Washington pawnbrokers to have the bill so amended and named Hornung and Heinehimer, Bernstein and Tribby as contributors to this fund.

McMichael said he never knew what share of this fund had been paid to McDermott until after the bill had become a law, when he asked him. McDermott told him that he received $7,500.

Sought to Clear Conscience.

McMichael told dramatically of the time when Mulhall told his two confidantes, McMichael and McDermott, that he was "tired of doing the dirty work of the N. A. M." and that he wanted to clear his conscience. He proposed to make public at that time the documents on which the present investigation is based.

The three of them met in their rendezvous and drew up resolutions similar to the ones which brought about the investigation. Mulhall said he would see that no letters involving McMichael or McDermott would be published. McDermott then agreed to show the resolutions to Speaker Clark and to Representatives Mann and Underwood, and to ask them about the advisability of introducing it. He reported to Mulhall, several days later, that all three of the leaders had advised him against doing so; but he substantially admitted to McMichael later that he had never approached them on the matter.

Begins to Tell of Money.

From the fall of 1909 until January, 1912, McMichael said, he was almost constantly on the pay roll of Mulhall, "the National Association of Manufacturers' field agent," at $50 a month, while he was successively Democratic chief page of the house, attendant in the house press gallery and elevator conductor in the capitol. He told of introducing Mulhall to Representative McDermott, for whom he worked as "a kind of secretary."

"Did you ever see any money pass between Mulhall and McDermott?" asked Chairman Garrett.

"I never seen any money actually pass between them," said the witness, pausing to puff at his cigarette. "But I had reason to believe that plenty of it was passing. I got mine open and above board."

"Why do you say you had reason to believe money was passing?"

The witness pounded on the committee table. "I'm not a fool," he declared vigorously. "When two guys like me and McDermott sit down to a table and the two of us ain't got a penny and a third guy comes in and we have eats and drinks and get up with the dough, I know that dough don't grow on trees, or on the table."

City In Brief

Miss Mayme O'Hara is here from Chicago visiting at the home of Miss Ellen Haley.

MAN'S A FOOL TO KNOCK HIS TOWN

Said old man Haskins, with a frown
"A man is a fool fer to knock his town."
It's easy to find fault all day long
It doesn't take brains fer to that stunt
Its simple to knock and to grouch and grunt.
And say that everything's goin to pot,
Whether it's exactly true or not.
And crabbins' a town, fur as I kin see,

Don't never bring no prosperity.
If you find that you've got to growl about
Your town it is time to git clean plumb out
And hide your discontented face
And let the folks stay who enjoy the place.
Just wrap your duds in a nice round pack.
And beat it down to the railroad track.
When the train pulls out, you kin shake your fist,
And go your way, you will never be missed
For there aint no home on the old home roost
For the feller who doesn't know how to boost,
There are lots of men who can't earn their salt
'Cause they spend all their time a-finding fault.

TOO MUCH FOR EASTER

Pilgrim Was Looking for Iron Springs, But That Story Was More Than He Could Stand.

He was a weary, thin and sallow-looking American, who had never been so far west before, and when he struck Carson City he hailed the first native he met.

"Can you tell me, sir, if there are any mineral springs about here?"
"From the east?" asked the westerner.

"Yes."
"Come here fer yer health?"

"Yes."
"Tried everything, I suppose?"

"Yes."
"Tried sulphur springs?"

"Yes. Didn't help me a bit."
"Been to Arkansas?"

"Yes, and everywhere else."
"What kind of water are you looking for now?"

"Well, no kind in particular. I was told, though, that I'd find a variety of springs out here."

"Going to locate?"

"That depends."

"Well, stranger I have got just what you want. A vacant lot in the best part of the city. Finest iron springs in the country. Go and see for yourself."

"But how do you know it's iron?" queried the easterner.

"Well, pardner, I drove my horse through it and he came out with iron shoes on his feet. And that ain't all. I drove some pigs down there to drink. They turned into pig iron, and I sold them to the iron foundry. Just what you want. For sale, cheap. Why, halloa! What's the matter?"

The weary easterner had turned abruptly and was walking off up the road.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Why England Believes in a King.

The great majority of Englishmen of all grades and opinions do undoubtedly believe in a king, and think they have some fairly good reasons for doing so.

The great reason, of course, is that on the whole the system works, or seems to work, fairly well. It is very costly. Everything included, it probably costs ten times as much as the average man thinks; and if a rate were levied for the purpose on him, he might feel it and begin to grumble. But the money is derived from the duchies, or voted from the taxes, and nobody feels the pinch or even knows the difference. It is a rallying point for all kinds of senseless anachronisms and abuses. But in an old country many things have a better chance of continued existence by being old than by being good, and an abuse comes to be esteemed almost when its hairs are gray and its years many. It promotes snobbery and creates snobs, though it will not be supposed to be unpopular on that account.—The Congregationalist.

FROM BAD TO WORSE

Accident Prevents an Unnecessary Separation; It Was the Husband's Last Chance.

By CLARENCE RICHARDSON.

The telephone was jangling discordantly and Cleave was conscious of an acute presentiment of disaster as he took down the receiver.

"Your wife . . . accident . . . he heard a voice saying. "Thrown from the buggy . . . bend in the road . . . unconscious and grave fears . . . come home at once."

Cleave hung the receiver up and sat staring moodily at the papers upon his desk. He need not start for half an hour, or there would be that much waiting at the station, and he preferred the silence of his office. It seemed like fate, this accident, for he had not expected to see Mary again for months, if ever.

They had been married two years, and had no child. If one had come things might have been different—they might not have quarreled so perpetually. Cleave was not by nature unkind, but he had spent long years of selfish bachelorhood, and he was devoted to his fixed habits. Mary was seven years younger; they had never managed to adjust themselves to each other. They had quarreled over the merest trifles, and their disagreements always left them unrepentant and moody.

How she had loved him before their marriage, thought Cleave, as he sat at his desk. Then she had striven at first to make him happy! And he, too, had tried hard to be good to her, for Mary was very lovable and sweet. But at last they had both given up in despair. Cleave would always remember the words she had said to him that night, three months before:

"I can forgive you, John, and love you, but the memory of these two unhappy years must always be with me. It can never be quite the same again."

And after that everything had seemed hopeless. Things had gone from bad to worse. And finally they had decided that Mary should go back to her mother, to spend the summer with her. There was to be no scandal. Their friends had no inkling of the condition of affairs, but thought them a devoted couple. They would separate quietly, to resume their relationship in the fall if, after mature consideration, they decided that such an arrangement would be for the best. Mary had been on her way to the station when the accident happened.

Suddenly there swept over him a fuller realization than had ever before come to him of his selfishness. He had ruined her life, he had killed her love. Not the blindest and most devoted love could have survived his callous cruelty and indifference. If he could only have one chance more!

He sprang to his feet and hurried to the street. The car carried him to the station none too swiftly. His train was just pulling out as he flung himself aboard. That was John Cleave all over, he thought bitterly. His wife was dying, and he—loitering at his office when every moment of delay meant so much!

An hour's run and he was treading the streets of the country village in which he lived. He saw his home; an automobile was standing before the door. He rushed in. The doctor and a nurse, hastily summoned, were in the hall. The doctor, on his way out, was giving the nurse her instructions, and for a full minute he did not pay the least attention to Cleave. When he had finished speaking, and the nurse had sped up the stairs, he turned to him.

"Your wife has had a very serious accident, Mr. Cleave," he said. "She was thrown out of the buggy when the horse swerved, and sustained a fracture of the skull. There is no immediate danger, I am happy to say. She may recover consciousness at any time. But we fear some brain injury."

"You mean insanity?" asked Cleave, miserably. He could bear to think of her dead better than of that bright spirit obscured and fettered. The love that he had ever felt for her rushed over him in a tide of bitter reproach. If only he had his chance once more!

"Well, hardly that," parried the doctor. "I cannot say just what form this injury is likely to take—and, really, until it happens, don't let us trouble ourselves unnecessarily by speculating upon it. Miss Anderson is an excellent nurse and knows just what it is necessary to do. I shall be back this evening."

All through that afternoon John Cleave sat at his wife's bedside, staring into the wide-open eyes that saw nothing. She lay in a stupor; there was not the smallest movement; she might have been a figure of marble. Her beautiful hair had been clipped short and hung like a ragged fringe under the bandages that had been placed about her head. Her hand was as cold as marble in John's feverish one.

"When do you expect her to recover consciousness?" asked John of the nurse.

"At any time," the woman answered. "Today, tomorrow, or tomorrow week. We can't tell—we must just hope."

"Or—never?" he asked, and Miss Anderson turned away without answering.

It was not until the third afternoon that consciousness returned. John had watched continually at his wife's bedside, hardly suffering himself to be torn away for the hastily snatched meals and the brief intervals of sleep. And all the while Mary had remained in the same position and her hand was as icily cold in John's.

It was about three o'clock in the afternoon when she stirred and spoke. A light of consciousness came into the eyes; she turned them upon John and knew him. She smiled at him, and the smile was like that which she had worn upon their wedding morning.

"Dearest—where am I?" she asked. "At home," said John, thrilling at the faint clasp of her fingers. "At home, never to go away again."

"But why should I want to go away from you, my husband?" said Mary, smiling. "I feel so weak. Have I been ill?"

"You have met with an accident," he answered. "But thank God you are getting well. Now you must lie still and sleep."

She smiled up at him obediently and for the first time the tired eyelids fluttered down upon the eyes. Mary slept. Her hand in John's was moist and warm. The nurse came in and saw the change.

"She will live, Mr. Cleave," she said. "You didn't expect it, then?"

"No," said Miss Anderson.

"She spoke to you, you say?" inquired the doctor of John that evening. "She knew you and spoke and seemed rational?"

"Absolutely rational," answered John Cleave, and turned away. He went into his room and on his knees thanked God for the chance that was to be his. His prayer was answered.

"How long have we been married, John?" Mary asked next day. "It seems such a long time, somehow, and yet I know that it can't really be an entire year as that calendar on the wall seems to show."

John looked at the calendar. It was an old one of the preceding year, and it had remained by the bedroom wall as old calendars are apt to do which they have become familiarized by time.

"It is June," said Mary, "and we were married in June. Is it a whole year, dearest?"

John dared not tell her that it was two years.

"Dearest," she whispered presently. "Put your arms round me and let me tell you something. Do you know, all the time I was lying here this morning, I have been thinking how unkind I have been to you, and how unhappy I have made you. I want you to forgive me, John. And I believe you can forgive me, because the memories of this year of our marriage have been so dear."

"It is you who must forgive me, dearest," said John, humbly.

That night the doctor explained the situation to him.

"Your wife," he said, "is on the high road to recovery. Her mind is as sound as it has ever been. The brain trouble which I anticipated amounts simply to this: The whole of the past year has slipped out of her memory. Has she had any great trouble that could account for this?"

"Yes," answered John, humbly, and the doctor shot a keen glance at him.

"Then that is the explanation," he said. "Her mind was troubled; she wishes to forget the episode, whatever it was. It is necessary for her to forget it in order that she may get well. The group of brain cells which registered those memories have, so to speak, isolated themselves from the remainder. We could possibly awaken those dormant memories, but it would be highly inadvisable to do so. Are you prepared to let her go through life with no memory of that one year?"

"Indeed, I am," said Cleave, "especially since you think it is for the best. But how can she adjust herself to conditions? Will she not be constantly perplexed by discrepancies in dates?"

"Happily not," the doctor answered. "In such cases the mind meets all these problems and solves them in its own way, and to its perfect satisfaction. You have a very charming wife, Mr. Cleave," he added. "Guard her and care for her—and let the past bury its dead."

And John, kneeling at Mary's bedside, thanked God that his chance had come, and renewed his vows, never more to be broken.

LOW PARCELS RATE FOR BOOKS
 Postmaster General Plans Extending Service Soon.

Washington, D. C.: The time appears when a remarkable defect in the parcels post system will be remedied.

For reasons best known to the framers of the parcels post bill books and other printed matter were barred from the low parcel post rate. This has proved one of the most remunerative kinds of business express companies engage in and Postmaster General Burleson has for some time been figuring on a way to annex the business.

Aside from profit, there is a wide field for usefulness in extending the parcel post rates to books, as it enables the libraries to reach a great territory.

Today the subject of bringing books under the parcel post system was taken up by Representative Lewis of Maryland, who introduced a resolution requesting that the postmaster general investigate the subject.

ASKS DAMAGES FOR ARREST.

Two thousand dollars is the claim and damages John Telson, a farmer residing three miles south of Tampico asks for one free night's lodging in the city jail of Tampico on the charge of intoxication. Mr. Telson has entered suit against City Marshal C. A. VanShere and Dr. C. P. Horner for $2000 for alleged false imprisonment and arrest. He has retained Attorney McMahon of Fulton and the trial is set for the October term of the circuit court in Morrison.

Mr. Nelson and his friends allege he was arrested on a charge of being drunk when not in that condition. He was arrested July 23 and before Justice Cain where he refused to plead guilty when the case was called about 5 o'clock and was committed until 8 o'clock the following morning for trial. The docket reads "Defendant was not sober enough to be tried and he was ordered committed until 8 o'clock, July 24." The trial occurred before Justice Cain and the jury after listening to three witnesses brought in a verdict of not guilty. Officer Vandrew was not present to prosecute, having gone to Joliet.—Tampico Tornado.

WOMAN ARRESTED ON

GENERAL PRINCIPLES

Sterling, Aug. 16—Mrs. Mabel Howard was arrested on a warrant sworn out by Orin Fowler charging her with using indecent language, also with allowing her sister, aged 18, to give daily impersonations of September Morn in the front yard in full view of the neighbors. Judge Weaver has taken the case under advisement pending investigation.

LIGHTEN LABOR
OF FARM WOMENNINE-TENTHS OF DRUDGERY OF
WOMEN ON FARM DUE TO WATER SUPPLY.

A HARD DAILY TASK IS THEIRS

Hard Work Carrying Water From
Source of Supply to Its Use—
Hardest Part of Work.

President Jos. Cook of the Mississippi Normal college believes the first step in the education of women in the country should be the elimination of needless farm drudgery. No matter how good the rural school may be, he declares, it cannot help permanently in making life in the country attractive unless there goes with it the movement to lighten the labor of the women.

Cause of Drudgery.

The water supply in particular rouses Mr. Cook's indignation. He is convinced that as much as nine-tenths of the drudgery of women on the farm is due to antiquated methods of handling the water supply. He states the case thus in a bulletin of the United States Bureau of Education:

It Is Hard Work.

"The getting of the water from the source of supply to the point of application requires more manual labor than any other form of house-keeping. The water for the kitchen has to be lifted from the well, carried to the house, poured into a kettle, poured out of the kettle into a dishpan and from the dishpan out of doors. This makes six times the water is handled and a bucket of water containing two gallons with the containing vessel will weigh 20 pounds. When this handled six times the total lifting is 120 pounds. The cooking of three meals a day on a meager allowance of water will necessitate ten buckets, which make for cooking alone 1200 pounds of lifting per day. When to this is added the water necessary for bathing, scrubbing, and the weekly wash it will easily bring the lift per day up to a ton, and the lifting of a ton of water will take the elasticity out of a woman's step, the bloom out of her cheek and the enjoyment from her soul.

FAMILY THEATRE
 Madame Gertrude, world's greatest actress, will close her engagement at the Family Sunday night. Without a doubt this engagement has been the biggest success the theatre has had this year. The matinee Friday was attended by over 500 prominent ladies. Madame Gertrude has received scores of letters of thanks for answers to questions, acknowledging the truthfulness of her answers. Nobody should miss the opportunity the last two days to attend her performance.

UTILITIES MAN HAS EXPLOSION

AND BURNS HIS FACE BADLY

Morrison, Ill., Aug. 15—Earl Knox an employee of the local Utilities Co. had his face and right arm badly burned by muriatic acid about 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. A coil of iron tubing used in a water heater, taken from the jail was lying in the engine room of the local plant stuffed up with a calcium sediment, and endeavors had been made to remove the scale by hot water and steam but were unsuccessful. As a last resort Mr. Knox filled the tubes with full strength acid, plugged up both ends and started to shake the apparatus. The acid rapidly generated gas which blew out a plug and let a stream of the fluid fly into his face scalding all of one side of it and the right arm and shoulder. Fortunately the vital parts of the eye was not touched. J. H. House the day engineer seized a can of oil on the spur of the moment and poured it on Mr. Knox, soothing the pain and preventing blisters as nothing else would have done.

Sycamore.

Freeport—Warrants for the arrests of several young men who live in Florence township, who it is alleged participated in a horsewhipping stunt in which Gessinus Sneek was a victim, were sworn out by Sneek today before Justice Christler and they were placed in the hands of the sheriff for service.

Deputy Sheriff Ohmsgard left for Florence this afternoon to serve the papers and the eight men were ordered to appear here for preliminary hearing tomorrow at 1 a. m.

This history of the case covers several months of time, in which it is alleged Sneek abused his wife and threatened to kill her, and as a result two divorce suits were started the first one being dismissed when Sneek promised to do better. Later he broke forth upon another tirade and the second divorce was started.

FEAT COST VICTORY

Swimmer Rescues Child During Yacht Race.

Lipton Cup Holder Leads When Michael McDermott Quits Post—Vessel Tied at Goal.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—Michael McDermott, international breast stroke swimming champion, played the role of rescuer, saving a child from drowning, and as a result Fred Herendeen's twenty-one foot yacht, Susan II., of the Chicago Yacht club, lost the second race for the Sir Thomas Lipton cup. Susan II., however, managed to finish in a tie for first place with Cherry of the Jackson Park Yacht club.

Susan II., present holder of the trophy, was in the lead at the beginning of the second leg of the race, when James O'Brien, the three-year-old son of James T. O'Brien, fell overboard from a launch. The boy's father donned a life preserver and jumped into the water to save him.

It was at this juncture that McDermott, a member of the Susan II. crew, became active. The swimmer immediately dove overboard. Susan II. was 200 yards away, but McDermott, with the powerful strokes that made him a champion, quickly reached the boy, who had gone down for the third time.

Limestone Application the Hope of Clover in Southern Illinois

"For the L-a-n-d's Sake Use Limestone," Says an Expert on Soil.

By C. C. Logan, Associate in Soils Extension.

SOON after the prairie land of Southern Illinois was brought under cultivation it became difficult to grow clover; as time went on the situation grew gradually worse, and finally complete failure became almost the universal rule. While some clover was yet being grown men began to say that "Southern Illinois was no clover country," and many insisted and practically all believed, that "clover never could be made to grow in Egypt," and woe to the man who dared to question the verdict!

Three reasons why it couldn't and wouldn't grow were given as follows: The cold weather of winter and spring, the hot dry weather of mid-summer, and the hardpan. These reasons were looked upon as providenyear on either plowed land or before it is plowed.

As may be seen from bulletin 123 or soil report No. 1 ten tons of limestone will be required on some soils to sweeten it to a depth of forty inches and there would be no harm in using that much per acre, but as a rule from three to five tons should be used as an initial treatment and a second application of from three to five tons made after four or six years.

In no case should less than two tons ever be used on an acre and an allowance of about one-half ton per acre for each year will be required to keep the land sweet. It has been shown that about 800 to 1,000 pounds of limestone is lost annually per acre by leaching.

The price of the limestone varies from 60 cents per ton at the quarry to $1.00 per ton, in bulk, in carloads or thirty tons or more per car. The freight rate in Illinois is one-half cent per ton per mile hauled at a minimum charge of 25 cents per ton for each road handling the car from one to fifty miles.

Different methods of applying the limestone are used and there are a number of very good machines now on the market. The eight-foot, two-tial hindrances the consequences of which man could not change or modify in the least, and woe to the man who dared express an opinion to the contrary.

This situation was critical for years and continued so until about 1906 when the Experiment Station turned the searchlight of science on the soils of Egypt and facts began to take the place of fallacy and truth, and hope took the place of prejudice and preconceived notions. The soils were tested in the field and analyzed in the laboratory, and it was soon learned that practically all of the land of Southern Illinois is sour or acid and in need of some alkali to sweeten it; and as it was a known fact that clover could not live and grow normally in soils that were sour or acid the failure of that crop was thus explained and a search was begun to find out how the condition might be remedied.

No sooner had the facts become known than all attention became centered in the large amounts of limestone rock under the hills adjacent to the land needing the limestone, and very soon inquiries were made as to how the limestone could be obtained, how much should be used per acre, etc.

In response to this slight demand the Southern Illinois penitentiary installed machinery and began to grind the rock for this purpose. The following figures will give an idea of the increase in demand during the years of 1906 to 1912 although much more would have been used if it could have been obtained when wanted.

Out of limestone from Southern Illinois penitentiary, Mernard, Illinois:

Year	Tons sold	Year	Tons sold
1906	122	1910	14,240
1907	1,519	1911	17,859
1908	2,427	1912	21,475
1909	4,548

The limestone at Mernard is a soft, gray, high-grade limestone containing from 95 to 97 per cent of calcium carbonate. It is finely ground and free from dirt and coarse rock. During the last two or three years other concerns have furnished quite a large amount of screenings suitable for use on the soils; their address may be found in circulars 110 and 165 of the Illinois Experiment Station, which may be had free upon request.

The rock is used in varying amounts per acre at any convenient time of the ### STUDENT IS INVENTOR.

C. A. Patton, a student in the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, is the inventor of "Patton's Automatic Milk-Can Filler and Anti-Foamer." The chief feature of the contrivance is the cone-shaped spreader over which the milk flows as it comes from the feeder, thus preventing the formation of foam in the can. The University dairy department will use the invention.

SCARCITY OF LIVE STOCK.

One of the best ways for the stockman to secure breeding stock is to raise it himself. In the past a great many farmers and stockmen have left this work to be done by the other fellow. The consequent scarcity of all kinds of live stock is sending prices upward. The remedy lies in the hands of each and every breeder.

CONTINUOUS LIVE STOCK SHOW.

D. O. Lively, chief of the department of live stock of the Panama-Pacific International exposition, has announced that plans were being perfected, which will insure a display of live stock during the entire term of the exhibition. There will be horses, cattle, sheep, swine, goats, poultry, pigeons and pet stock on exhibition from the beginning to the close of the exposition.

CRISIS OF HIS LIFE

Great Sacrifice of Chinaman and Awe-Inspiring Sign in Vermilion.

By GERTRUDE MARY SHERIDAN.

A beautiful young girl sat at an open window gazing out upon a garden redolent with lilac bloom. Her hands were clasped, her eyes fixed upon the full moon sailing on in silver state, her soul's thoughts going forth to her lover at the other end of the world.

She was Agnes Norton, and the person upon whom her heart centered was Wade Latham, author and artist. Once he had been a law reporter, and quite incidentally had acquired information upon which rested the vital issues of the great Norton will case. The Norton family rose or fell on the final decision upon that noted litigation. It was now appealed to the highest court, and General Norton was sure that the newly discovered evidence of young Latham would turn the scales of justice in his favor.

It was natural on account of this that Agnes and Wade should meet. It was just as natural that they should love. They seemed made for one another. No engagement existed between them, but when they had last parted the farewell meeting of their eyes told both that their hearts and their future were united.

The Norton case would not come up for a year. Wade had an offer from a publication to invade central China and bring back something new from pen and pencil to give to the world. Success in this effort meant, further, a recognition by the Academy of Design. It was a great commission for a young man and Wade ambitiously undertook its execution.

A year had nearly gone by. Agnes had not heard from her lover for nearly three months. The will case came up in thirty days. The general was anxious and worried. And Agnes sat dreaming of Wade at the other end of the world.

She pictured him among great temples, far extending mountain chains, amid splendid pageants of richly tunate family had, indeed, induced him to part with nearly all his surplus stock of money.

"Since then," continued Kwang Lo, "the evil mandarins, thinking you had money, have imprisoned you in the hopes of winning the bribe ransom you could not pay. Last night my kinsman here enabled you to escape from jail. They will seek you everywhere. From here two hundred miles across the mountains to Belro, if you are seen it is death for you. They have sent for me, the high one of the family, to get you beyond peril, and because for some great reason that is not our affair you must be in your native land speedily."

"But I have no means to pursue my journey from Belro to Canton," suggested Wade.

"They shall be provided," quietly assured Kwang Lo.

"Master, within your case—open it," spoke the other native.

Wade did as directed. Kwang Lo reached within it and drew from among the colored pencils a wood encased crayon of vermilion hue.

"Give it to me," he directed. "It shall be your safe conduct. Within an hour be prepared for the journey."

True to his promise Kwang Lo reappeared shortly with a two-wheeled push cart holding a close wicker box top. Across this was a broad sheet of bamboo bearing some Chinese letters in bright vermilion.

In an instant Wade knew what this meant. The royal sign manual was always written with a vermilion pencil. Kwang Lo intended to force a safe conduct to Belro by deluding the natives with that counterfeit awe-inspiring sign manual of the ruler of the realm.

Within that wicker covert Wade Latham was conveyed to Belro. When it was opened he found himself in the rear room of a Chinese pawn shop. Kwang Lo had disrobed to the waist. Encircling him was a band of gold, heavy and unbroken, bearing native characters. There was some talk between him and the keeper of the shop. Then money passed, and Kwang Lo came forward and placed in Wade's hand a sum equal to two hundred American dollars.

"You are safe to travel hence to Canton," he said—"you can return to your native land as soon as money can speed you now."

"But this money—"

"I have agreed to remain here the slave of the shop keeper until I am redeemed," was the explanation. "The family circle, sacred for generations—surely my family will not allow it to pass to others at my death! But that is naught to you. I am the sacrifice—I glory in this doing for the man who saved my kinsman!"

That sublime sacrifice was first in the thoughts of Wade Latham when he landed on American soil. As quickly as he could reach his friends more than the amount necessary to redeem Kwang Lo and his family salesman was transmitted to Belro to make of him a free man.

In time to act as a witness in the great lawsuit and to see it won for General Norton, honored and famous through his contributions to science and literature, Wade Latham gained a still richer prize after all his perilous adventures—the hand of loyal, happy Agnes Norton.

TAKE DIGGS IN RIOT

FIGHT WITH PHOTOGRAPHERS ENDS IN POLICE STATION.

Wives of Two Defendants Appear in Court—Government Rests Its Case.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 16.—While newspaper photographers were trying to take pictures of Maury I. Diggs, his wife, his mother and his father, as they left the federal building somebody punched a photographer in the face, bystanders joined in and in an instant there was a free-for-all fight. Diggs was taken to a police station.

Diggs was released and a friend of his, a law clerk, was charged with battery, because it appeared a photographer had been hit on the head with a camera.

In the case brought against Diggs under the Mann act the government concluded its side at noon. The defense then began its efforts to prove that Marsha Warrington and Lola Norris were not transported from Sacramento to Reno for immoral purposes in violation of the Mann white slave traffic act.

The two defendants had the moral support of their wives and mothers, who appeared in court after the noon intermission. The wives will be called to testify for the defense.

Before the government concluded its case testimony was introduced in an effort to show the nature of the scandal Diggs had been said in the previous testimony to fear. M. H. Diepenbrock, landlord of the building where Diggs had his office, said:

"The janitor had told me that the juvenile authorities were after Diggs, and I told him so."

Diggs was said to have had young girls coming to his office.

The last government witness was Diggs' father, I. P. Diggs, a contractor and builder of Berkeley, who said:

"His uncle, Marshall Diggs, and his young wife had told me that he was running wild with other women. I told him I didn't want the family broken up; that the situation was serious, and that I was going to prosecute. Caminetti, Miss Warrington, Miss Norris and himself if the thing didn't end right away."

Children's Refuge Burns. Binghamton, N. Y., Aug. 16.—St. Mary's home here was destroyed by fire. All the occupants, including 200 children, got out safely.

Rain Benefits Rice in Japan. Tokyo, Japan, Aug. 16.—Rain fell generally over the country, and the outlook for a good rice crop is improved.

KEEPS TRACK OF ITS CARS

Every Railroad Employs Experts Who Look After This Business, Which Is Their Sole Occupation.

In the course of a year many millions of dollars change hands in the settlement of railroad mileage accounts, and in no commercial operation is the same confidence displayed in handling such a vast amount of money. No opportunity whatever is given the different roads to go back of the signatures of the respective officers for an examination of the mileage as certified by them, and while this may be taken advantage of in some few instances, it is the exception and not the rule, and is only resorted to by roads on the edge of bankruptcy.

A railroad must give foreign cars while on its line the same care as to oiling and packing that is given to its own. If a foreign car is damaged through a wreck or by careless handling, it must be repaired and put in perfect order before it is delivered to its owner. In order to prevent "bad-order" foreign cars from coming on to a road, inspectors are stationed at all interchange points, whose duty it is to carefully examine every car offered and see that it is in perfect running order.

If there are some small defects about the car which do not materially affect its running, as a broken door or a cracked oil box cover, the car is accepted, but a defect card is tacked on each side of the car, showing that it is accepted with such minor defects as may be enumerated.

Freight cars rarely get lost or stolen. Connected with the car department of every road are several "lost car" agents, whose duty it is to look up delayed or lost cars. Every month a list is furnished these men of the car accounts, giving the number of cars then on foreign roads which for some cause are being delayed. It is the duty of these agents to find out where the cars are and send them home.

SOME IDEAS ABOUT COOKERY

Improving the Flavor of Fish—Cream for Baked Beans—Preparation of Delicious Rice Omelet.

When fish of unpronounced flavor is to be boiled it is improved by the addition of vinegar to the water. If the fish is inclined to be tasteless half a pint of vinegar to an ordinary kettle of water will not be too much.

An old New England housekeeper has a cupful of rich, hot cream ready to stir into the baked beans when they come from the oven and before they go to the table.

Creamed toast in one family is prepared in this way: The bread is toasted and kept hot in a covered dish. Then a white sauce is made in the usual proportion of a cupful of rich milk or cream to a tablespoonful each of butter and flour, with salt to season. At the last, when the sauce is thick, two tablespoonfuls of grated cheese are stirred in, a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce and a dash of paprika. It is poured over the toast.

To prepare a rice omelet as one cook does it, make a white sauce with a cupful of milk and two level tablespoonfuls each of cornstarch and butter. Stir in three well beaten yolks and a cupful of hot boiled rice. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the three eggs, season with paprika and a trace of nutmeg, and cook in the regular omelet pan. Serve with red currant jelly.

UNWRITTEN LAW PLEA FREES
Chicagoan Slew Man Who Attacked
His Young Daughters.

Clubs	W.L.P.C.	Clubs	W.L.P.C.
Chicago, Aug. 16.—Edward J. Duprey, who killed Henry Gronimus, an aged photographer, because he believed the latter had mistreated his two little daughters, was freed by a coroner's jury, which, acting under the "unwritten law," held the killing justifiable. Not only was he exonerated by the coroner's jury, but State's Attorney Hoyne announced that he would accept the verdict as final. As a result Mr. Duprey, for days a fugitive from the police and later a prisoner on the charge of murder, slept peacefully in his own home.
